Clinical Department Philosophy

The Clinical Department believes that any patient requiring outpatient procedural services be treated as a unique individual with the respect and dignity which is recognized as a fundamental right of every patient entering the Center.

Competent, humane, efficient, economical, and effective care should be rendered to all patients and their families and/or significant others. We believe that the uniqueness of nursing lies within its focus. The focus of the clinical staff is helping the individual to achieve his/her optimal level of health through therapeutic intervention. We believe we can accomplish this task and return the patient safely home the same day of procedural service. We believe that a totally professional clinical staff best enables the patient to receive quality care at a reasonable cost. Inherent in this relationship is responsibility and accountability of the clinical staff for their decisions and actions.

Staff members are encouraged to broaden and enrich their professional knowledge base by attending education in-service programs and formal education offerings, and through active participation in professional organizations.

We believe that quality care is achieved through adequate staffing of competent personnel, proper utilization of personnel, professional nurse supervision, continuing education, and research.
